Palmer named education coordinator

Steve Hansen, director of the Sioux City Public Museum, announces the appointment of Christen Palmer as education coordinator.

Palmer graduated with a B.S. in Psychology, an Endorsement in Elementary Education, and a M.S. in Curriculum & Instruction from the University of Colorado at Boulder. Prior to moving to Sioux City, Palmer taught kindergarten, first and fifth grades at Legacy Elementary and Willow Creek Elementary in Colorado Public Schools. She was an active member on the reading textbook adoption committee as well as the continuous improvement team in her district. Palmer has been trained in environmental curriculum, tutored struggling students in various areas of study, and became familiar with Sioux City Community School district and its curriculum by substituting for two years.

As education coordinator, Palmer will develop youth programming as well as classes for school groups, child care centers, and home-schooled children at the Sioux City Public Museum's new downtown site.
